Prosecutors give no motive for murder, standoff

- DA: Neighbor shot elderly man in wheelchair at Brighton housing unit
- Suspect's lawyer says mental illness an issue
- Gunman told cops he had taken prescription drugs
- Shotgun-wielding man had gun license

JOSH REYNOLDS

▶ Moore was arraigned in Brighton District Court on Thursday.

Prosecutors provided no clues as to the motive behind Wednesday's killing of an elderly, wheelchair-bound man allegedly at the hands of his neighbor.

Randy Moore, 54, pleaded not guilty to murder and other charges during his arraignment Thursday in Brighton District Court. Moore entered the courtroom in hand and ankle cuffs and was dressed in a white jumpsuit. He didn't speak.

Moore allegedly shot 78-year-old William Thomas with a shotgun just before 11 a.m. Wednesday.

Court documents showed that Moore told police he was under the influence of Klonopin, a drug used alone or in combination with other medications to control seizures and relieve panic attacks. It is also used to treat restlessness that may occur as a side effect of treatment with antipsychotic medications, according to the National Center for Biotechnology Information.

Approved for license:

- Moore does not face any charges for illegally possessing a gun.
- Boston police said he was licensed to have a firearm, according to the Globe.
- Authorities said they were looking into Moore's firearm license.

Moore's lawyer, Matthew Kamholtz, said Moore has a history of mental illness and has been previously treated. Kamholtz added that he believed Moore is competent after conversations with him.

Thomas lived below Moore in their Brighton apartment building.

Police responded shortly after someone placed an emergency call about gunshots.

"Officers found Thomas sitting in his wheelchair suffering from a large gunshot wound to his chest," said Assistant District Attorney Mark Hallal.

Neighbors told police they heard Moore's door open just before the shooting and when officers approached Moore's apartment they were shot at through the door with bullets passing by one officer's head.

With their weapons drawn officers escorted Thomas and the EMTs out of the building as Moore continued to fire at them, Hallal said.

What followed was a two-hour standoff that created chaos in the Brighton neighborhood.

Moore eventually surrendered without more shots being fired.

Bulger girlfriend indicted

BOSTON. Federal authorities announced Thursday that fugitive mob boss James "Whitey" Bulger's girlfriend was indicted for helping to hide the South Boston native while he fled from police.

Catherine Greig, 60, was charged with conspiracy to conceal and harbor a fugitive. There is little new information in the indictment, except an allegation that Greig told people Bulger had emphysema to explain why he stayed indoors. METRO

Cavity under Big Dig being monitored

BOSTON. According to reports, the clay soil under the Mass. Pike connector tunnel, frozen nine years ago for excavation, has settled, opening a void under the tunnel that highway officials said is being monitored. Administrator Frank DePaola described the situation as "not serious at all" and said the cavity under the highway tunnel poses no threat to public safety. METRO

Save some cash, buy on sales tax holiday

State knocks back sales tax on big ticket items like keg fridges and new bikes ◗ Students can score a little extra drinking money with tax savings

Tax freedom

Metro does the math savings for you.

$250 home theater from Best Buy: save $15.60

$500 sofa from IKEA: save $31.25

$1,000 bike from Back Bay Bicycles: save $62.50

$2,500 bundle of electronics: save $156.25

This weekend is prime time for filling that unfurnished apartment back-to-school must-haves.

For two days, the state is lifting the 6.25 percent sales tax on purchases less than $2,500.

If you're in the market for new Xbox to start the semester, the holiday will net you a savings of $28.

Perhaps a new mode of transportation tops your college needs? Drop $1,000 on a superlight road bike and you'll pocket the $62.50 in would-be tax.

Don't feel like dealing with a mob of shoppers?

According to the state's website, online orders are also tax exempt, but items must be ordered and paid for on Aug. 13 or 14.

For the partyer, Kegerator.com has keg refrigerators of all sizes ranging from a $500 single-tap cooler to a grandiose $2,000 double-brew dispenser. The site doesn't charge for shipping.

By knocking off the sales tax on the $2,000 model, you save $125 that can go toward the keg to fill the fridge — the state alcohol tax is also waived.

The holiday rules

- On Aug. 13 and 14, all purchases made totaling less than $2,500 will not be subject to state tax.
- All sales of motor vehicles, boats, meals, gas and tobacco products do not qualify.
- By law there is no sales tax on clothing unless the price exceeds $175; in that case, only the increment over $175 is subject to tax.

Contact lost with test plane

WASHINGTON. An unmanned experimental aircraft designed to glide down from the upper atmosphere at 20 times the speed of sound lost contact with ground control on its second test flight on Thursday, a Pentagon agency said.

The Falcon HTV-2 was launched on a rocket and successfully separated from the launch vehicle, the Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency said.

The arrowhead-shaped plane was expected to separate from the rocket near the peak of its ascent and glide back to earth, reaching hypersonic speed before rolling and plunging into the Pacific ocean, according to a test diagram posted online.

About 10 minutes after the flight began, DARPA tweeted that the mission was "on track, entering glide phase." But about 26 minutes later, DARPA tweeted that its monitoring stations had lost contact with the glider. REUTERS

▶ After undergoing a grueling, 20-hour full face transplant, Nash now has a fair, almost blushing, complexion.

Two years after a horrific attack by her friend's pet primate, Charla Nash can now greet life with a smile

A woman who underwent a full face transplant in May after being mauled by a chimpanzee in 2009 revealed her new face in a photo that was released on Thursday.

Charla Nash, 57, who was photographed in her hospital bed at Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston, appears dramatically different with a new nose, lips and facial skin.

"I will now be able to do things I once took for granted," Nash said in a statement. "I will be able to smell. I will be able to eat normally. I will no longer be disfigured. I will have lips and will speak clearly once again. I will be able to kiss and hug loved ones."

Nash was hurt after a friend's 200-pound pet chimpanzee went on a rampage two years ago. She lost her hands, lips, nose and eyes, leaving her blind and disfigured after the attack. The animal was eventually shot and killed by police.

Prior to the surgery, Nash was often photographed wearing a veil to hide her disfigurement. REUTERS

▶ Danny McBride wields a crossbow in "30 Minutes or Less."

In celebration of villainy

Danny McBride plays the antihero on HBO's "Eastbound and Down," but what he really loves is playing a straight-up villain in "30 Minutes or Less." In the film, McBride is an overgrown layabout living in his dad's basement. Once his character and that of Nick Swardson get the idea to open a brothel fronting as a tanning salon, they plant a bomb on a stoner pizza delivery boy in order to force him to rob a bank for the cash. Sounds kind of like the work of Kenny Powers, if you ask us. So, we asked him.

This character bears a resemblance to your "Eastbound and Down" character, Kenny Powers. Was that on purpose?

I was told that this character was written for me. So when I read the script, there were things in there that I felt that this was similar to things I've done before. You always try to pare back that as much as you can. Honestly, once I was in there with Nick [Swardson], it was a whole new dynamic — and so you just try to follow that.

Do you like playing the villain?

Some of my favorite characters when I was a kid were always the villains in movies, you know, like 'The Karate Kid," I always rooted for Cobra Kai weirdly. You know, you love Darth Vader, so it is kind of fun. Even as a writer, it's fun to write characters that, their moral compass is slightly skewed and you've got to figure out a way to get an audience still to root for that person. I think it's kind of a challenge.

Race, raunch and too many bromances

Comedian Aziz Ansari makes it clear that he doesn't like that B-word ◐ Why the '30 Minutes or Less' star had Jamie Foxx as a body double (he might be joking)

"Can everyone stop saying bromance?" Aziz Ansari snips. "For some reason that bothers me. There is an alternate ending we just shot where we all f— each other. And when we watched that, we thought, 'This is turning into a gay thing.'"

The comedian and star of NBC's "Parks and Recreation" is talking about his role in "30 Minutes or Less."

Director Ruben Fleischer describes the film as a "double buddy comedy," since Ansari and Jesse Eisenberg play two friends forced to rob a bank by two other buddies (Danny McBride and Nick Swardson) who want to make fast money in order to open a tanning salon/brothel. The two pairs seem incredibly chummy offscreen and on, but that doesn't mean Ansari would put up with Eisenberg's wild driving skills for the car chase scenes.

"It is Jesse in the car but in the passenger seat, it's not me," he says. "It's actually Jamie Foxx and they CGI-ed my face on in post, because I was too scared."

But one thing Ansari will never wuss out of is a chance to make a joke about race — his own or that of anyone else.

"It would've been awkward if there was a white character saying that stuff," he says referencing cracks he made at his own expense. "It's a good thing it was me, because those would not have made sense. They had to stop me sometimes like, 'Aziz, you're not Korean, you can't say that.'"

Aziz Ansari's favorite action sequence: "The car chases in 'Steel Magnolias' are really amazing."

It's all about the improv

"We all improvised so much that it's really a credit to [director Ruben Fleischer] and the editors and the producers," Ansari says. "They did a great job of filtering all the stuff we did to the best stuff. I mean, it's hard to narrow down one favorite moment because there's really so much. When I watched, I was like, 'What, that made it in? That made it in?'"

NILSON WEBB

'30 Minutes or Less'
Director: Ruben Fleischer
Cast: Aziz Ansari, Jesse Eisenberg, Danny McBride and Nick Swardson
Rating: R Grade: ●●●●○

There's nothing genteel about "30 Minutes or Less." The presence of Danny McBride assures that. If you don't find his brand of foul-mouthed humor amusing, then you'll find very little to like here. But, if McBride turns your crank, you'll find much to enjoy.

Jesse Eisenberg may not get nominated for this one, but he does get a good Facebook jab in there. It's good to see he can have a sense of humor about "The Social Network," his biggest success so far. Aziz Ansari is a manic ball of energy here; and while at first it seems like he might be too much, by the end it's great he's there. The other thing this movie has going for it is the pace. It moves like a rocket. The 90 minutes really do feel like 30 minutes.

No one will be talking about the cinematography or costume design, but they will talk about what a raunchy good time they had at the movies — and that's the goal of this kind of film. It's like the spiritual cousin of "Zombieland," an unexpectedly fun mix of action and humor.

Synopsis

Very loosely based on a strange Erie, Pa., bank robbery, the story involves a slacker pizza delivery boy (Jesse Eisenberg) who is kidnapped by two moronic criminals (Danny McBride and Nick Swardson). They strap a bomb to his chest and order him to rob a bank or, in 10 hours, everything will go boom. Incidental to the main story are a best friend (Aziz Ansari) and a psycho killer (Michael Pena).

"Glee: The 3D Concert Movie" literally sings to the choir. If ever there was a movie made for fans, this is it. A concert film, with show tunes, the music loses most of its context when there isn't a storyline to play off. What's left is essentially karaoke with some nifty dance moves thrown in. Highlights include Lea Michele warbling through a Barbra Streisand tune, but when Mark Salling sings "Fat Bottomed Girls" it doesn't sound so much like a Queen classic as it does the squealing death of rock 'n' roll.

Fifth time's a charm

'Final Destination 5'
Director: Steven Quale
Cast: Nicholas D'Agosto and Emma Bell
Rating: R Grade: ●●●○○
There's something delightfully straightforward about the "Final Destination" franchise, a series that knows what it is and doesn't pretend to be anything else. It also knows why you're here: to see a group of witless young adults miraculously cheat death, only to have it catch up with them one by one in ever-more complex ways. The biggest surprise is that, five films in, the franchise is actually at its best, managing to work in macabre laughs and a clever twist that rewards eagle-eyed viewers. But what about those infamous death scenes? Some are more elaborate than others, but all are executed with tension. Let's just say you'll never watch a gymnastics competition the same way again. ● NED EHRBAR

'All's Well' with this production

Commonwealth Shakespeare Company's summer play is like a reality television show via the Bard

All is indeed well on the Boston Common, where the Commonwealth Shakespeare Company's delightful production of "All's Well That Ends Well" is bringing thousands together for free theater under the stars.

Long considered one of the Bard's problem plays, the dark comedy proves to be no problem at all in 2011. Who doesn't like a loathsome elitist lothario, a conniving woman hellbent on trapping a man into marrying her or a plethora of quirky sidekicks engaging in a seemingly endless string of buffoonish antics?

Sounds a bit like reality television, but it's actually Shakespeare as it should be done. Director Steve Maler embraces the plot, works every humorous angle and never loses sight of the fact that this is, above all else, entertainment.

Much of the laughter is directly attributable to the antics of sidekicks Parolles (Fred Sullivan, Jr.) and Lavatch (Larry Coen). Coen's Lavatch engages in a subtle give and take with the Countess (Karen MacDonald) while Sullivan's Parolles is the quintessential big, dumb guy hitting on all the girls and spewing lines like "France is a dog-hole."

His Keystone Cop-style chase in Act II is hilarious.

MacDonald delivers a stellar performance as the Countess, presiding over the vast audience with impeccable grace and aplomb. Her longtime colleague Will LeBow proves to be equally regal in his superb portrayal of the King of France. Kersti Bryan's Helena has an almost "Fatal Attraction" quality that adds great dimension and fun to her supposed innocence while Nick Dillenburg is perfectly unlikable as Bertram, the guy who always gets the girl.

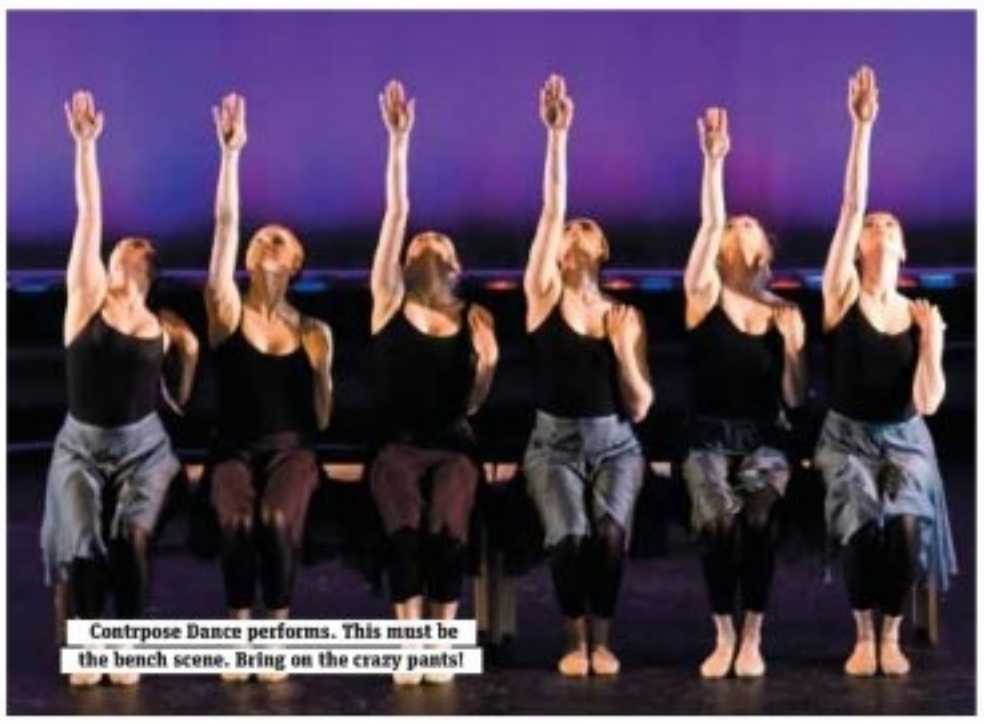
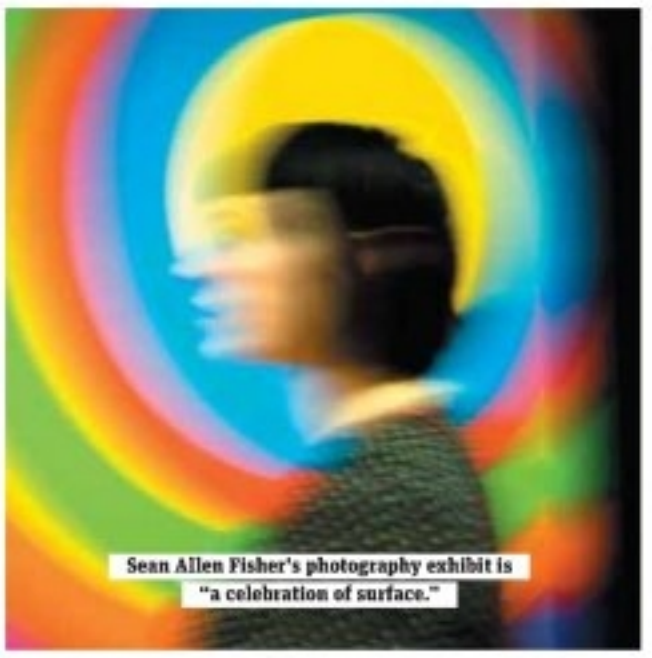
Metro's guide to what's happening in your city this week



Contrpose Dance performs. This must be the bench scene. Bring on the crazy pants!



Sean Allen Fisher's photography exhibit is "a celebration of surface."

Festivals

India Day

1 David G Mugar Way, Boston, Free
www.iagb.org
This celebration of all things Indian happens annually at the Hatch Shell around Indian Independence Day. Expect the usual cultural festival mainstays: music and dance, food vendors and arts and crafts. Fun fact: India celebrates its 64th year of independence from colonial rule this year.

Going out

Yappy Hour
Wednesdays, 5:30-7:30 p.m.
TAMO Terrace, Seaport Hotel, One Seaport Lane, Boston, 617-385-4315
www.tamobar.com
Ever wanted to bring your dog out to the bar? He is your best friend, after all! Well now you can at this weekly event. TAMO's chefs will be whipping up fresh doggy biscuits (which will probably be more to his liking than cocktails) and you'll get to mingle with other dog owners and hear training tips from Boston K9 Concierge.

Murder at the Science Museum Scavenger Hunt
Saturday, 2 p.m.
Museum of Science
One Science Park, Boston
$31, 877-946-4868
www.watsonadventures.com
This Watson Adventure would be perfect for fans of Dan Brown's "The Lost Symbol." Museum of Science staffers have recently uncovered a lost invention of Benjamin Franklin's, but someone's been bumping them off. Who is the culprit, and might it have to do with (cue dark music) the Freemasons? Note: Tickets must be purchased beforehand!

Art

People You May Know
Opens Friday; on view Saturdays through Aug. 27, Washington Street Art Center, 321 Washington St., Somerville
Free, 617-623-5315
www.washingtonst.org
An exhibition of photos by Sean Allen Fisher which depicts, according to the Washington Street Art Center's website, "the ways in which we share via the online network, the ways we collect connections, and the vast sea of indiscriminate people and images. A celebration of surface. Appropriated portraits of people you may know." Plus, check out how cool the colors are in that shot on the right of this text. And that's not our printer's fault it's out of focus, it was Fisher's artistic decision!

Euka's Evening Art Walk
Thursday, 6 p.m.
Roxbury Crossing
1400 Tremont St., Boston
$10, 617-427-1006
www.discoverroxbury.org
Roxbury based artist Ekua Holmes gives you a tour of Roxbury's public art offerings, as well as some peeks into the homes of local artists. Her intimate knowledge of the area and its artists is sure to give you the inside scoop. Note: The tour is limited to 20 so you should buy your tickets in advance at Brown Paper Tickets.

Dance

Contrapose Dance
Saturday, 4 and 6 p.m., Union Square, Somerville
Free, 617-625-6600
www.somervilleartscouncil.org
This local dance troupe performs eight pieces from a repertoire of styles from ballet to modern, sometimes both at the same time. The Somerville Arts Council says to expect crazy pants, a bench and five shimmering dancers.

Theater

'Boulevard of Broken Dreams'
Through Aug. 20
Boston Playwrights' Theatre, 949 Comm. Ave., Boston, $10-$13, 617-549-9854 www.happymediumtheatre.com
In this play, Marilyn Monroe, James Dean, Sal Mineo, River Phoenix and Heather O'Rourke (aka the girl from "Poltergeist") find themselves trapped in the same room together in what is apparently an afterlife reminiscent of Sartre's "No Exit." In order to escape, they must discover what unites them, presumably beyond simply being young, famous and dead.

'Love Song'
Through Aug. 27
Charlestown Working Theatre, 442 Bunker Hill St., Charlestown
Free-$20, 866-811-4111
www.charlestownworkingtheater.org
Orfeo Group presents this play by John Kolvenbach about Beane, a lonely, sullen man whose outlook suddenly takes a serious 180 after he falls in love with a woman who has tried to rob him. Has he gone mad? Or does he just understand something about love — having denied himself it for so long — that the rest of us take for granted?

Music

Summer Sings
Monday, 7:30-10 p.m.
Old South Church
645 Boylston St., Boston
$8, 617-267-7442
www.choruspromusica.org
Here's a choral concert where the audience is the chorus. In the first half you'll learn the piece, Bach's "Magnificat," from Chorus pro Musica director Betsy Burleigh, and in the second you'll perform it, with piano accompaniment and soloists joining in. This is the third in a summer series. The final installment, Brahms' "New Liebeslieder Waltzes" comes next Monday.

Movies

'Skatetown USA'
Saturday, 9:30 p.m.
Brattle Theatre
40 Brattle St., Cambridge
$7-$10, 617-876-6837
www.brattlefilm.org
A piece of cult nostalgia nonsense par excellence, this 1979 roller disco film stars Scott Baio, Flip Wilson, Patrick Swayze and Marcia Brady herself, Maureen McCormick, all of whom probably left it off their résumés. The plot is basic: love story, dude rivalry, comedy relief, etc., but you're there for the sublimely ridiculous imagery, which, like the incessant beat of disco, does not let up. Nobody puts Brady in a corner!

Checking in with some of Hollywood's biggest names to see what they've been up to — in their own words, in 140 characters or fewer.

Today, Justin Timberlake has hygiene issues, Denis Leary is feeling a bit distracted, Kirstie Alley wants you to consider the source and Jerry Seinfeld is giving away secrets.

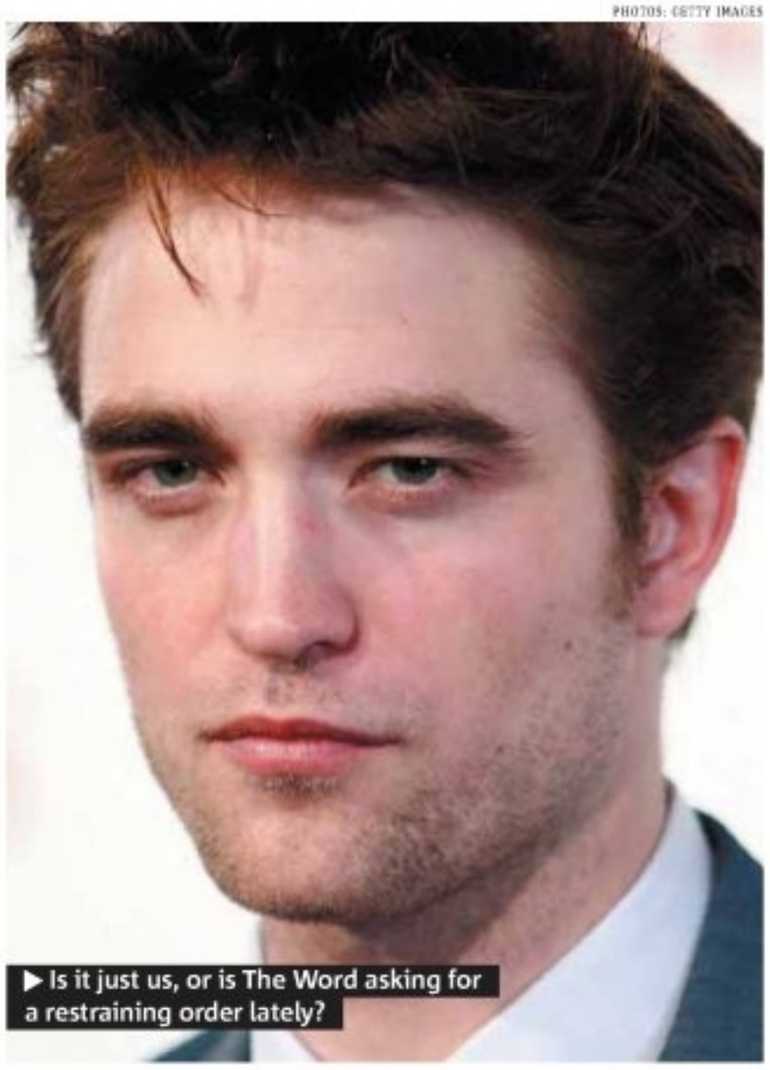
THE WORD

Metro's Monica Weymouth shares her take on the world of gossip @monicaatmetro monica.weymouth@metro.us

– Dorothy Robinson will return on Monday.

Pattinson's deleted scene

PHOTOS: GETTY IMAGES



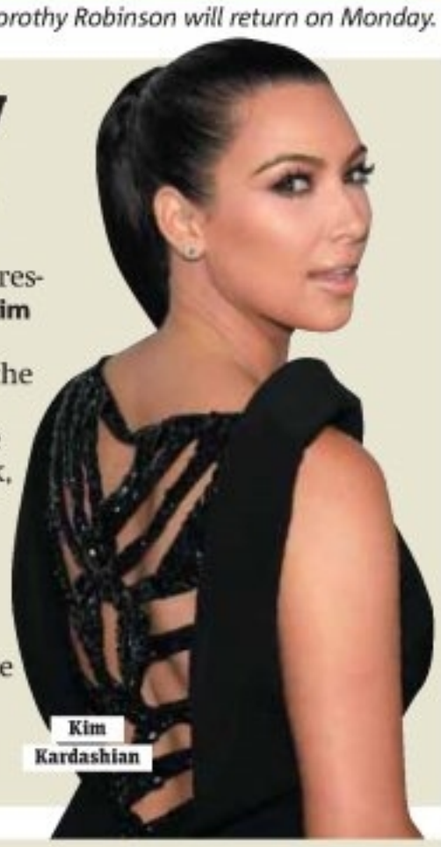
▶ Is it just us, or is The Word asking for a restraining order lately?

Our least favorite thing about vampires? The now seemingly required graphic undead sex scenes. (Runner-up goes to CGI werewolves, but those, thankfully, are another story. For now. Put down your creepy pen, Stephenie!)

Robert Pattinson seems to share our discomfort, and was hoping to lighten up the honeymoon scene in the upcoming "Breaking Dawn." "I wanted to have it as a line so much: 'I bit through all the pillows. Every. Single. One.' And then he'd start crying," the actor tells Entertainment Weekly. "By the way, that's what he should be ashamed of in the morning. All those beautiful pillows! Egyptian cotton! I ruined this bed!"

Nice rewrites, Rob. If you need some edits, the Metro conference room — complete with very cheap, totally replaceable, don't-even-worry-about-them Ikea chairs — is always open.

Have a crazy bride-to-be in your life?



Kim Kardashian

For perspective, we present this quote from Kim Kardashian:

"Last night I took the red-eye at midnight, landed at eight in the morning in New York, ran to Vera Wang for a dress fitting at 10 a.m., then left at noon on another flight out," she tells E! Online. "I spent like 11 hours on a plane just to spend three hours in New York."

Paula Abdul, we owe you

We love leaked lists of diva demands. Mostly, because it makes us feel like the low-maintenance, gracious people we so clearly aren't, but it's also nice to know that should gossip columnists start raking in the big bucks, it's still cool to demand sorted Skittles.

Paula Abdul's assistants, according to UsMagazine.com's source, are required to: Tape all of her conversations, monitor TiVo for any mentions of her and remind her that she is a "warrior, survivor and gift." A gift indeed.

Talking points

Lopez and Anthony play nice(ish)

Jennifer Lopez reunited with estranged husband Marc Anthony this week in the Hamptons, according to TMZ. The pair were spotted riding in the back of a red convertible in Southampton, N.Y., where Anthony was visiting to see his children, his rep explains. And he's reportedly not taking their divorce well. "His mood shifts from blaming her to begging her to take him back to telling her she is destroying his life," a source tells Us Weekly, adding that while working out the details of their impending divorce, Anthony was "being difficult on every little point. He wants to prolong things so she reconsiders."

Kate Hudson keeping her parenting cool

Kate Hudson says she's aspiring to be like her own parents when it comes to raising her kids. "My parents allowed my brother and I to have our freedom," she tells Elle magazine. "[We could] be ourselves and feel confident in our choices and make mistakes without too much judgment." Hudson hopes she "can do as good of a job" as her mom, Goldie Hawn, who "never hands out unsolicited preachy words of wisdom," she says. And despite having a newborn at home, Hudson isn't slowing down. "I would never want to be with someone who complains and goes, 'Oh, my god, my life is so crazy,'" she says. "If you make the best of it, it can be amazing."

▶ Davis

More good news for Viola Davis

It's a big week for Viola Davis. Not only is she earning rave reviews for her role in "The Help," but she and husband Julius Tennon are starting a family. "We're about to adopt a baby," Davis tells E! News. The baby will the couple's first child together, while Tennon has two children from previous relationships.

Horoscope

♌ Leo July 23-Aug. 22. If you fail to think for yourself, you can bet your bottom dollar that there will be someone who steps up and thinks for you. You may not like the results.
♍ Virgo Aug. 23-Sept. 22. Actions, not words, are what impress others, so all the talk in the world won't cut the mustard. Unless you are prepared to back up what you say, you may be viewed as just a blowhard.
♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23. Generally, you're a reasonable person who looks before leaping. If you let your guard down, however, you might throw caution to the wind and gamble on what you shouldn't.
♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22. Important decisions need to be shared and resolved by both you and your mate. Each might see things differently and misinterpret the other.
♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21. Unless you are an expert, you should not attempt to interpret and/or explain instructions on how to do something dangerous. If it misfires, you would be held accountable.
♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 19. Adopting too indifferent of an attitude about your resources could create severe problems for you down the line and cause you to wonder why your funds ran out.
♒ Aquarius Jan. 20-Feb. 19. Common sense and logical thinking will work for you in ways that your rabbit's foot won't. Be sensible about how far you can push your luck.
♓ Pisces Feb. 20-March 20. It's always important to see things as they are and not as you want them to be. Know the difference between optimism and pure wishful thinking that can lead you astray.
♈ Aries March 21-April 19. Enjoy yourself in ways that won't decimate your wallet. In fact, expensive activities are likely to provide the least amount of enjoyment for you.
♉ Taurus April 20-May 20. Although there is likely to be an abundance of opportunities for you to partake of, you aren't likely to find the enjoyment in them that you normally would. Do something simple, and refresh your worldview.
♊ Gemini May 21-June 20. Just because you got away with something in the past doesn't mean you will get to do so again. Besides, you should make a concerted effort not to repeat a major mistake.
♋ Cancer June 21-July 22. Avoid going out with friends who have plenty of discretionary funds to spend that you don't. It could be embarrassing if you can't keep up with them and need to leave early.

▶ Woods on Thursday

Stricker good, Tiger bad

Steve Stricker had a very good day at the PGA Championship on Thursday, firing a 7-under 63 for the first-round lead.

Tiger Woods didn't enjoy his time in Atlanta nearly as much. The former world No. 1 shot a 7-over 77, leaving himself in a tie with such luminaries as WC Liang, Jerry Pate and, yes, John Daly.

METRO

Buyer's remorse

Sounds like former Vikings coach Brad Childress regrets trading for Randy Moss last season.

"We had good guys, by and large, [but Moss] walked in the locker room and vomited on it," he told NFL.com.

Minnesota cut Moss after just four games.

The games began Thursday night in Foxborough, with the Patriots hosting the Jaguars in Week 1 of the NFL preseason. New England QB Tom Brady did not start, and was not expected to enter the game later; his absence did not appear to be injury-related. METRO

'Cinco Ocho' enjoying a strong year for Sox

Papelbon has cut down on his walks, WHIP Hasn't given up a run in 11 outings And he's got a great nickname Sox back in action Friday

Jonathan Papelbon has long been an admirer of Chad Ochocinco. Even before the outspoken wide receiver called New England his home — and searched for a home with a Patriots fan — Papelbon felt a kinship.

Not surprising, considering Papelbon's No. 58 is Ochocinco's inverse. As early as 2007, Papelbon mused that he wanted to be known as "Cinco Ocho," and his propensity for outspokenness fit the part.

On the air Friday

Red Sox at Seattle

So it was this week that Papelbon's alter-ego returned, and so did the bold commentary. After two somewhat shaky seasons, Papelbon is enjoying one of his finest years as Boston's closer. His critics silenced, Cinco Ocho finally spoke up.

"Cinco Ocho loves haters," Papelbon told MLB.com. "He loves to drink the haterade, man. That's what Cinco Ocho fuels his engine with. I like to be told I can't do something. Cinco Ocho needs to be told he stinks, and then he just takes the haterade and fuels his engine. That's how he works, man."

Papelbon, who blew eight saves last season, is 26-for-27 in save opportunities in 2011, including the last 21 in a row — a career best. In 2009 and '10 combined, Papelbon issued 52 walks. This season, he has just eight BBs.

"Cinco Ocho is the kind of person that lives in the moment, man. He doesn't really think about the future. He doesn't really think about the past."

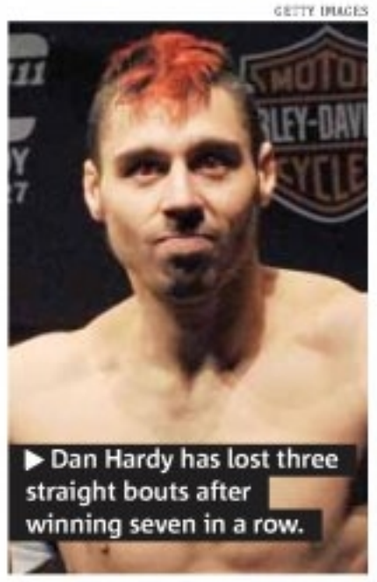
Hardy needs a win to remain

GETTY IMAGES



▶ Dan Hardy has lost three straight bouts after winning seven in a row.

Once upon a time, Dan Hardy looked like the next big thing in the UFC welterweight division.

He was charismatic, telegenic — and riding a lengthy winning streak.

But then came a loss to Georges St. Pierre. And one to Carlos Condit. And another to Anthony Johnson.

If Hardy can't get past Chris Lytle at UFC Live 5 on Sunday (9 p.m., Versus), he'll likely be cut from the promotion entirely.

"It's unusual territory for me," the British brawler said. "I've never been in this situation before. I had two back-to-back losses a while back in my career, and that was a very difficult situation to be in.

"But at this level that's just the way it goes sometimes."

Lytle presents a real stylistic challenge for Hardy. Both rely on their standup, and the Indianapolis native has never been knocked out.
